Harriet Woodruff Lewis.

Editorially: Life is in a great degree what we make it. If we try to make it appear all wrong, there will be enough to strengthen our endeavor; but if we look for the brightest and best, always, we will be surprised to find how much there is that is commendable. There is some good everywhere and in everything.

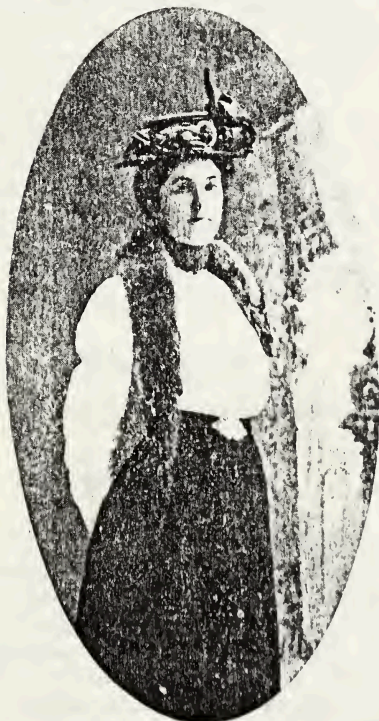

Not being conscious of ever having resided on any other planet, we cannot very well make comparisons, but we imagine that, taken as a whole, our little sphere is about as worthy of habitation as any of the countless worlds we see around us.

God has a plan for our lives as well as for the life of the universe—a plan we should neither question nor condemn. We should believe:

“That each sorrow has its purpose,
By the sorrowing off unguessed;
But as sure as the sun brings morning,
Whatever is—is best.”

Entered for Poet Laureateship.

When in despair, when trials perplex
And doubts around thee throng,
Faint heart, look up and think that peace
Will come to thee ere long.
Life's every joy and fame may all
Be ours if we so will;
And oh, there's help in this sweet thought
'This lyre hath music still.'

How much it lessens Sorrow's hold
Upon the heart to know
From out all great adversities
A wondrous good doth grow!—
There's magic in this simple line—
These words have power to thrill;
Oh, rise above defeat and say:
'This lyre hath music still.'

Up, up, ambitious one! disdain
To list to failure's voice:
Be brave, hope on, and thou shalt yet
Have reason to rejoice.
May all success be thine, oh thou
Who had a poet's skill:
Have faith alway and tell thyself:
'This lyre hath music still.'

Personally: I am descended from William Lewis of Farmington (Book XII.) I was born in London, England, Oct. 16, 1881. My father is Leon Lewis, the novelist, whose name together with that of his first wife, Mrs. Harriet Lewis, my name's sake, appeared in every number of the New York Ledger from 1860 to 1878. The first three years of my life were spent in the large cities of Europe, after which I came with my parents to America. I received my education in various cities of this country and on June 16, 1899, was graduated from a private kindergarten in Norwich, N. Y., where I studied to be a kindergarten teacher. Since March, 1900, I have resided in Connecticut and much of my time has been spent in literary work, chiefly poetry, my poems having appeared in many publications (v p 35, Vol. XII) and having been received very favorably by the professional press. Since December, 1901, I have been associate editor of the Nutmeg Idler, a monthly amateur production which is the official organ of the Litchfield County Amateur Press Club of which I am the official editor. I am very much in love with my work and hope to make a name for myself in the field I have chosen and which I believe is the work I was sent into the world to do. I shall at least try to be a credit to the rest of the "Lewis tribe."

Yours for progress
Charliss Woodruff Lewis.

The Loyal Lewis Legion.

FROM THE WORLD'S FAIR BULLETIN.

Through Edward S. Lewis, of St. Louis, this order has asked the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company to designate a "Lewis Day" in September, 1903 to be celebrated by the Lewises at the World's Fair in honor of Captain Meriwether Lewis, of the Lewis & Clark Expedition, who was appointed by President Jefferson the first American Governor of Louisiana Territory. As indicated in the following letter, the "Loyal Lewis Legion" proposes to make this Lewis Memorial Day celebration worthy of the historic part played by Captain Meriwether Lewis in the exploration and Americanization of the great empire acquired for democracy in 1803:

"ST. LOUIS, FEBRUARY 6, 1902.

"To the Board of Directors of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

"The Loyal Lewis Legion, an organization formed for the purpose of maintaining a patriotic, fraternal and genealogical order of all persons by the name of Lewis throughout the world, respectfully requests that one day during the month of September, in 1903, be set apart and designated as 'Lewis Day.' In support of this request, it may be said that Meriwether Lewis led and commanded the first expedition which traversed and explored the territory of Louisiana after its cession to the United States, and that in honor of his services in connection therewith, he was appointed the first Governor of this territory by the President of the United States.

"The Loyal Lewis Legion, being regularly organized and incorporated, and having members throughout the United States, will undertake to arouse and cultivate an interest in the day selected, and celebrate the same in honor of the first Governor of this territory, and in a manner befitting the family name and the occasion. Much work will be necessary after the day is designated to cultivate an interest which will secure a large attendance, and it is therefore desired that the matter receive your favorable consideration at as early a date as possible.

"EDWARD S. LEWIS."

The Editor would suggest September 23rd, the date of the return of the Expedition to St. Louis.

Members of L. L. L. have received their badges from the Supreme Herald. They are very neat and tasty. Do you wear one?

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS.

Explanations, Abbreviations, etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The List of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations commonly used in genealogical work are used, as b. for born; d. died; m. married; m. (1) first wife; dau. daughter; unm. not married; v. p. see page; etc.

THE OTSEGO SOCIETY IN NEW YORK.

On Saturday evening March 8th, 1902, "The Otsego County Society," were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Lewis, 865 President Street, Brooklyn, to an informal reception. Two large rooms were filled with tables on which were placed the popular games of the day. The billiard room claimed, also its devotees, while music and recitations charmed the parlor audience; and the library, filled with pictures and curios, gathered by his sister, Miss Nellie J. Lewis (3227 v p 82 Vol. XI.) in a trip around the world, added to the enjoyment of others.

CHAPTER CCLIX.

FROM THE SABBATH RECORDER.

In the Statistics of the Seventh-day Baptist churches for 1853 at the first Hopkinton church (Potter's Hill, R. I.) C. M. Lewis (Who was he?) was minister, D. Lewis (1066) and C. C. Lewis (1067 v p 124 Vol. III.) deacons; at the Petersburg (N. Y.) church N. Lewis perhaps Nehemiah (66) deacon; at the 1st Alfred church (Alfred Center, N. Y.) A Lewis (128) deacon; at the Berlin (Wis.) church D. E. Lewis (129 v p 18 Vol. II.) clerk.

From a file of this church organ of the Seventh-day Baptist organization, from 1853 to 1868, the following records, which have not yet appeared, are taken by Arthur R. Lewis (v p 93 Vol. XII.) of Marshall, Mich.

Married in Petersburg, N. Y., Aug. 8, 1853, by Rev. Azor Estee, William Briggs of Troy to Edna Lewis (26 v p 29 Vol. I.) of Petersburg.

Died in Hampton, Ct., on the 1st of August, 1854, after a long and painful illness, Mrs. Sarah Lewis, wife of Enoch B. Lewis, Esq., (386 v p 19 Vol. III.), and dau. of the late Col. J. M. Knowles, of Westerly, R. I., ac. 48 years. She embraced religion in youth, and soon commenced the observance of the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. She connected herself with the 1st Seventh-day Baptist church of Hopkinton, R. I., where for more than thirty years she was a bright ornament to the cause of Christ and only shone the more brilliantly as death approached. She was among those who first led in the work of Sabbath School instruction, and doubtless many will rise up in the judgment and call her blessed, for her work of love in this department. "The memory of the just is blessed." C. M. L. [evidently the minister of the Hopkinton church v above. Who was he? - Ed.]

By ROE REISINGER, FRANKLIN, Pa.

Will not the loyal members of the Clan Lewis help me answer a hard question that I am trying to solve? The 8th ch of Jonathan (2), whose will appeared in March and April issues, m about 1718, Joseph Wickes (v p 28 Vol. III. for record). I would be glad to hear from any one who can afford any help on:

1st. Whether the mother of Hannah (15) was Jemima Whitehead or widow Deliverance Carman (v record of marriage p 163 Vol. X.) This concerns a great number among whom are several genealogists of ability including Mrs. Alden, of Troy, and Horace Rusco, Esq. of Huntington, L. I.

2nd. Why when Sybil (9) b Oct. 20, 1685, was nearly 23 years old when her father's will was made, the daus. should be called "all under age" v p 154 Vol. XII?

3rd. Who were the parents of Deliverance wife of Benjamin Carman (for facts concerning v my article p 22 Vol. XII.) and second wife of Jonathan Lewis (for whose ch v p 117 Vol. V. and will p 137 and 154 Vol. XII).

CHAPTER XLI.

FROM DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL.

The hundreds of graduates of the New York Institution during the past thirty or more years will regret to learn that Miss Prudence Lewis, (70 v p 37 Vol. I.) who served so long as assistant-matron, has resigned. Although she is still the erect and graceful young-old lady of years ago, the burden of nearly four score years is sufficient without adding to it the daily arduous duties of the position she so long has filled. Her resignation was placed before the Board of Directors, and on the first day of April, in the year of Grace nineteen hundred and two, her active connection with the Institution ceased. Miss Prudence Lewis is a graduate of the old 50th Street School, and her period of service at Fanwood began in September, 1871. She has a clear record for faithfulness and efficiency. She possessed a wonderful influence over the girls; her sympathetic nature won their confidence; and she was to them a daily exemplar of refinement, propriety, and Christian living.

CHAPTER CCXCII.

BY HARRY W. LEWIS, ERIE, Penn.

Asahel B. (1558 v p 23 Vol. XII), eldest son of Barnabas (1240), b Oct. 27 1804, Whitehall N. Y., went to Canada in 1824, where he purchased a number of acres of land and erected a factory for wool carding and cloth dressing near Rogers Corners. His brother Joel (1608) joined him in spring of 1828 and they carried on the business until they sold the mill in 1832. Asahel then assumed the editorship of the Liberal, a newspaper published at St. Thomas, and one of the two then published in the county. It was an era of much rancor and bitterness between the Liberals and Clericals. Lewis was a fearless and forcible writer, and his articles cut like a two edged sword. He d in 1833 at the early age of 28 years.

Joel (1638 v p 78 Vol. XII, 21 son of Barnabas (1240), b Jany. 19, 1806, Whitehall, N. Y., joined his brother Asahel (1558) in Canada in Spring of 1828. After they sold their mill in 1832, Joel purchased 100 acres of land in Yarmouth near Orwell. He m Apr. 7, 1833, Haseriah, b Feb. 11, 1812, dau of Simeon Davis. He worked his father-in-law's farm for a time, making improvements on his own which in time became one of the finest farms in the Township, upon which in 1845, he erected a fine brick house. Here all the fireside charities that dignify life were dispensed with right good will. He was noted for his mechanical ingenuity and eccentricities, his love of knowledge and independence of thought, and his sincerity and kind-heartedness towards every one. It is doubtful whether his business life should be classed as that of a farmer or a manufacturer. He had a fine well tilled farm and on it constructed by his own hand, a blacksmiths shop, wagon shop, repair shop for machinery, turning lathes, for wagon and cabinet work, cider mill, grist mill for stock feed. He was proficient in all these trades and used both water and steam power.

He had a peculiar trait of purchasing odds and ends of every sort and could furnish a counterpart to any breakage of vehicle or machine. One man wagered he could name an article uncle Joel could not furnish. The article named, a second hand church pulpit, he had. Elizabeth (1224 v p 174 Vol XII) b. Pembroke, Mass., Mar. 22, 1743, dau. of Daniel (166) and Sarah Lewis, a remarkably exemplary woman; her mother having died while she was quite young, she went to live in the family of her uncle, Rev. John Howland, (v p 99 Vol. II), at Carver, Mass. She was a gr. dau. of Rev. Daniel Lewis (52), the first minister of Pembroke. Having thus come of good New England stock, and reared under religious influence, when she became the mother of a family of children, she was very devoted to them, and endeavored to inculcate her own principles and those she inherited to her children. She had a mild, even, and peaceful disposition and was a great lover of peace, attentive and orderly in all her domestic affairs, and faithful in giving her family religious instruction, never failing to teach her children from that invaluable manual of Christian doctrine and duty, the "Westminster Assembly's Shorter Catechism" on the afternoon of every Lord's day, and having them repeat their prayers morning and evening. On Sundays she would never allow them to play or stroll around, always endeavoring to have them attend church-worship. She was very particular to have her children avoid every species of profanity or vulgarity, and always solicitous as to their mannerly conduct in public and private.

In her household affairs neatness and order were particularly noticeable. She was precise and exact in all matters of business, and a person of uncommon memory. She is said to have been very ingenious at needle work.

CHAPTER CLXXIII.

FROM KILLEBREW'S RESOURCES OF TENN.

Lewis county, situated on the western side of the great Highland River of Middle Tennessee, was organized into a separate county from fractions of Maury, Lawrence, Wayne, and Hickman, in the year 1844. It was named in honor of Meriwether Lewis (64).... In the midst of dense woods, several miles from any human habitation, on the crest of a bold, broad ridge, with deep gorges running toward the northeast and west, and near the commencement of the flat lands, this monument stands, seldom visited, and almost forgotten by the present generation of men. Its entire height is about 25 feet and it is surrounded by an iron fence in a state of great dilapidation, many of the rods having been taken away.

FROM THE SABBATH RECORDER.

Died in Greenmanville, (Stonington) Conn., Nov. 10th, 1860, of consumption, Mrs. Lydia Lewis, wife of Welcome B. Lewis (109 v p 179 Vol. XII), ae 49 years. Mr. Lewis and wife were the first Seventh-day Baptist family that began the beautiful village of Greenmanville, now composed principally of Sabbath-keepers, and in her death the society has lost a valuable member. In the various relations of life, as wife, mother, and neighbor, sister Lewis exemplified the Christian life. Her bereaved husband and children will long remember her devotion to their welfare, and her unwearied labors for their happiness. Although most ardently attached to her family and friends, yet, as the messenger of death approached, committing them all to the care of her heavenly Father, and rising superior to the fear of the king of terrors, she joyfully departed this life, and entered on those purer, holier, and sublimer scenes of the spirit world.

A PENNSYLVANIA CLIPPING.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season occurred on Thursday Oct. 31st, 1901, when about thirty of the descendants of James and Betsey Ross Lewis assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Shelp of Fairdale, to enjoy each other's company and organize a society. Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Cochrane were present by special invitation. Dinner was served at high noon; the table fairly groaned under its load of good things, and all did ample justice to the tempting viands before them. After all had dined, Miss Sadie Shelp favored those present with several pleasing selections on the mandolin after which Mrs. P. L. Shelp in a few well chosen words, brought to notice the subject of forming an organization and holding a reunion each year. This was approved by all, and Rev. Cochrane was invited to act as temporary chairman, which he kindly and most acceptably filled. The election resulted as follows: President G. L. Lewis, Fair Hill; Vice-Pres., E. T. Beaumont, Middletown; Secretary, Mrs. F. A. Lewis; Treasurer, P. L. Shelp; Historian, Mrs. Alma Shelp. A Committee on arrangements was appointed with Mrs. Alice Lewis as chairman.

Quite a number of relatives living in New York state were unable to be present but they were not forgotten. Also relatives in the far West were lovingly remembered. Letters have since been received from Mrs. E. E. Lewis of Wallace, Wash.; and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Lewis of Merna, Nebraska, expressing their loving remembrance of relatives here. The company dispersed to their homes, feeling well pleased with the events of the day, hoping to greet each other again next year at the home of Edward T. Beaumont, on the first Thursday in September 1902.

FROM BIOL. CYCLOP. OF PENN.

As a director of the Philadelphia

Exchange Company Wm. David Lewis (13 v p 161 Vol. XII) took a prominent part in the erection of the Merchant's Exchange building; and for ten years, commencing in 1829, was a director in the Philadelphia Saving Fund Society, one of the earliest institutions of the kind in this country. He was also director of the Academy of Fine Arts, and for a short time its President; and subsequently (1854) President of the Catawissa Railroad Company, and Treasurer of the Williamsport and Elmira Railroad Company. In May 1849, he was appointed by President Taylor, Collector of Customs for the Port of Philadelphia, which he retained until the administration of President Pierce, in March, 1853. About 1855, he retired from active business pursuits, but did not forfeit his interest in the public prosperity. During the war of the Rebellion he was a prominent member of the Union Leauge, and dedicated his only son to his country's service. Colonel Lewis went out in command of the 18th Penn., Vols., under the first call of the President, and subsequently of the 110th Penn., Vols. He distinguished himself at the head of his command in the battle of Winchester, and numerous others. For these services he was brevetted Brigadier-General. His arduous duties and constant devotion undermined his health, and after long struggling with the debility induced by his campaigns, he finally yielded to them, in 1872. At 18 years of age, Major Lewis was employed by Genl. Robert Anderson as an Overseer on his plantation on Deep Creek, Pendleton Dist., S. C. After his marriage to Elizabeth Moorhead, he removed to the town of Pendleton and went to merchandising with Mr. Saml. Maverick of New York, N. Y. About 1815 he removed to, and settled Rock Mills, in the lower part of the County, and built a Merchant Mill, the first in that part of the county. Here a new settlement soon grew up, and there were added from time to time, a store, Wagon shop, Blacksmith shop, Hotel, etc. A good many families settled near and soon there was a large community settled around the Mills. In 1826 the Legislature of S. C., authorized the division of Pendleton Dist., into Anderson and Pickens Dists., named in honor of two of the Generals of S. C., who participated in the war with England for Independence. Major Lewis surveyed the lines of the new counties, and located the towns of Anderson and Pickens. He canvassed the county of Anderson and was elected the first member to the lower house of the Legislature from that Dist., with Dr. Alexander Evans as senator, and represented the new county for one year. After his death in 1837, his widow continued to live on the Rock Mills property, with her dau. Emily Rushbrook, and her slaves who were always kindly cared for, and continued with her until during the war between the States 1861-65. In 1862 she sold off her property and slaves, except Dick her foreman and Lou a servant girl, and went to spend the remainder of her life with her eldest dau., Mrs. Narcissa Dean. She died here in 1863, and was buried at Cross-Roads Baptist Cemetery, Anderson County, S. C.

Record of Life.

FROM WHITNEY POINT, N. Y.
 REPORTER.

The White Bear (Minn.) Life brings to us the following obituary of the late Frank Lewis, who was for a score or so of years a resident of this city:

After two years of failing health and months of patient suffering Frank Lewis died Wednesday, Dec. 18, 1901, of Bright's disease.

He was born Jan. 6, 1828, at Lisle, Broome-co., N. Y. His parents died when he was very young. His first business connection was with Lockart at Angelica, N. Y. Afterward he became a manufacturer of woolen goods at Bath, N. Y., and it was while in that business during the period of the Civil war that he met with decided reverses. His mill burned down and he lost everything, having to begin life anew. He then came west to Deborah, Iowa, engaging in business there in mercantile lines. He afterwards came to St. Paul, and for fifteen years he was with the Powers Dry Goods Company, up to two years ago, when his failing health obliged him to retire from active life. Since that time he has been gradually failing. He was married in 1854 at Canisteo, N. Y., to Miss Mary E. Mulhollon, who survives him. Mr. Lewis has been a well-known and much respected citizen of White Bear for many years. His life and character were such as to endear him to all with whom he came in contact. He was also possessed of unusual strength of will, often evidenced by his patient and uncomplaining exhibition of Christian fortitude during his long illness, from which he suffered exceedingly at times.

Mr. Lewis was a member of the Presbyterian church for many years.

He leaves a widow and one son, Samuel. He has also a surviving brother, John Lewis, who resides in New York state.

Can any one tell us to what family the above Mr. Lewis belonged?

Clippings.

About three years ago I enlisted in the army. Owing to the opposition of my parents, I gave my name as Edward Lewis; my age as 21 and eleven months; my birthplace as Albany. My right name is Edward Lewis—; my age should have been given as 19 years; my birthplace as New York City. I was honorably discharged last December, having served the full term in the Philippines. My discharge papers are made out in the name of Edward Lewis, age 21 years and eleven months, my birthplace, Albany, N. Y. How can I obtain a corrected certificate of discharge containing my full name, correct age and proper birthplace? EDWARD LEWIS—

A famous contest that has been on for a year involving the ownership of Grove Beach property, has been settled.

The suit is that of John S. Lewis of Meriden against William Lewis of Westbrook. The latter is a post office inspector and is the owner of a large tract of land that was in dispute at Grove Beach. The land originally belonged to Jacob Lewis, who was a New York banker and at one time a partner of the house of Vermilye & Co. of Wall Street. He died in 1871. Mr. Lewis resided alone at Grove Beach. One day when he was returning to his home from New York he met on the train Henry Lewis, who was no relative whatever. The banker told his friend that he was lonely and in poor health and wanted a companion. It is stated that he promised to give his property to his new made friend provided the latter made his home with him. An arrangement was agreed upon but some time before his death, and for some reason that is not explained, he changed his plans and quit claimed the property at Grove Beach, covering fifty acres, to his nephew, Post Office Inspector Lewis. The claim of Henry Lewis to the estate was satisfied by a purchase of his interest by the nephew of the banker. A year ago a son of Henry Lewis claimed the property as his and suit was brought in the Superior court against Inspector Lewis. The latter, through his counsel, filed a demurrer, and after being in the courts a year, the case is thrown out and the post office inspector is victorious.

The land in question is well known to many New Haveners, who, during the past few years have purchased sites and built cottages there.
