THE OLD LEWIS ACADEMY BUILDING, SOUTHINGTON, CONN.

[BY THE COURTESY OF THE SOUTHINGTON PHOENIX.]

Lewis High School.

It was while Rev. David L. Ogden, then pastor of the Congregational church here (1823) and who was foremost in his efforts to furnish for the young people of the town facilities for a more advanced education, that Miss Sally Lewis made provision in her will donating certain real and personal properties (which afterwards realized the sum of $3,040.76), "to be held in trust, and the rents, interest or income thereof to assist in maintaining a school of the higher order within the limits of the first school district in Southington forever; that is, a school for the instruction of youth in the Latin and Greek languages, mathematics, geography, and other branches of science higher than are taught in the common schools."

The provisions of the will were carried out, a school building erected on the site of present Town Hall, and a school of a high order was opened. Hon. H. D. Smith being its first principal; and for several years the school was partly supported by this fund, but subsequently, one of the conditions was violated, and it reverted to the Congregational Society in accordance with a clause in her will.

Later (1838) Mr. Addin Lewis, a native of the western part of the town, which now forms the eastern part of Wolcott, bequeathed the sum of $15,000, five thousand of which was to be used "in erecting near the present center of said town a building suitable for the accommodation of an Academic Institution."—Southington Phoenix.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS.

Explanations, Abbreviations, etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The List of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations commonly used in genealogical work are used; as b. for born; d. died; m. married; m. (1) first wife; dau. daughter; unm. not married; v. p. see page, etc.

Hints for Contributors.

In writing matter for the printer use only one side of the sheet, note paper preferred. In giving dates, give year, month and day whenever known. Write all middle names in full. Give names and addresses of such people as you think may be able to complete the record but get it yourself if possible and spare the editor. Old newspaper files, tomb stones, family Bibles and records, official records of the town, school and church, burial certificates, county and probate records, old deeds and letters are some of the more important sources of information. Don't forget however the stores of information which the old people can give—Get them interested and then "pump them dry." Most important of all, don't get discouraged yourself. How can you interest others, if you yourself are not alive with enthusiasm?

WILLIAM LEWIS, Farmington, Ct.
CHAPTER CXVIII.
FROM CAMP'S HIST. OF NEW BRITAIN.
Ct.

(concluded from last issue.)

Finding that no steps had been taken to replace the stores of ammunition destroyed at Concord, Col. Gay (v Phebe (186) p 118 Vol. V] urged the importance of providing at once powder and ball, or the patriot troops ar-iving would be nearly helpless. He was persuaded to undertake the service, and visited the towns of Rhode Island and Connecticut to secure a supply. He was in a measure successful, collecting several tons of ammunition, either at this time, or later, when employed in a similar service by General Washington. The company of militia was raised and sent to Boston, and Capt. Gay received his commission as lieutenant-colonel Jan. 23, 1776, and that of colonel June 20, 1776. After General Washington's arrival at Cambridge, Colonel Gay was employed with his regiment to cover the party detached to fortify Dorchester Heights, and on the evacuation of Boston, he, with others, was ordered to march in and occupy the town. He remained with the army at Boston until his regiment, which belonged to Wadsworth Brigade, was ordered to New York. Being ill at the time he passed two or three days in Farmington with his family, but went to New York to join his regiment before he had recovered. He became worse, and died in New York Aug. 22, 1776. On his sword were engraved these words: "Freedom or Death." He was a true patriot, zealous, self-sacrificing, giving himself for his country. Before engaging in the war he had been active in every good work, both in church and society, and his death was much lamented by the community.

[Col. Gay evidently became active in Farmington's welfare soon after his arrival (1759) as the following extract shows.—ED.]

In 1757, the society voted and agreed that they would introduce Dr. Watt's version of the psalms, to be sung on the Sabbath, and at other solemn meetings. At the same time Elijah Cowles was requested to "tune the psalm," and for that purpose was assigned a seat in the fifth pew. In 1762, Mr. Fisher Gay was appointed to assist Mr. Cowles "in setting the psalm."

CHAPTER XIII.

It is proposed in this and a few succeeding chapters to give a brief directory of the earlier generations of this line with some additions and corrections which have come to light through the work of Mr. Geo. Harlan Lewis. It would be a pleasure to reprint entire but the space at command forbids it. References must suffice for the present.

Joseph (73), the present ancestor of this line, is claimed to be the son of George Lewis of Barnstable (XXIV) v p 106 Vol. V., also son of Edmund Lewis of Lynn (XXXIII) v p 53 Vol. VII and son of John Lewis of Malden (XXXVI) v p 104 Vol. V and p 52 Vol. VII. Records and evidence tending to the proof or disproof of any or all of these assumptions will be acceptable. Let us have all possible facts so that if no positive conclusion is reached each descendant may form his own opinion from the evidence presented.

Joseph (73) m. June 13, 1671, Mary Jones dau. of Robert Jones of Hull and gr. dau. of John and Sibyll Bibble (v pp 52, 71, 87 Vol. VII). The authority for his death and burial at Swansea June 24, 1675, is Bodge's Indian Wars p 463. His record is given on p 27 Vol. VIII. 2 ch. b. Swansea, Mass.

BY M. LEON LEWIS MALDEN, MASS.

Ida Fillmore (38 v p 94 Vol VIII) d Dec. 22, 1896, very suddenly of apoplexy. The following is taken from an obituary notice in the Malden Evening News.

Miss Lewis was born in Provincetown forty-four years ago. She was educated in the Provincetown High school class of 1870) and at the Westfield Normal school (graduated in 1876.) Practically her whole life has been devoted to teaching. She was a very successful instructor, and much beloved by her pupils.

Her first school was in a small town among the Berkshires. Later she came to Ware, and in 1884 was appointed to the Greenwood school in Malden. When the Belmont school building was completed Miss Lewis was assigned to the fourth grade which she retained until her sudden death. The deceased was an attendant at the First Methodist church, and was visiting agent for the Industrial Aid Society in Ward One.

Miss Lewis was a sister of the late Mrs. Lyman H. Richards. She leaves three brothers, L. B. Lewis, of Joslin & Co., Geo. W. Lewis, both of Malden and Dr. J. F. Lewis of Hyde Park. One sister Anna W. also survives her.

OBITUARY.

Charles Smith Lewis who died on Sept. 25, 1897, at the home of his wife's sisters, the Misses Sandford, in Pelham, N. Y., was the son of Chas. S. and Mary Griffiths Lewis. He was born in Baltimore, but in early life removed to Philadelphia, and later on to New York City, where he married a daughter of the late Gen. Sanford. Some time after, he made his home in Evona, a pretty suburb of Plainfield, N. J., and now a part of that city. Here he established a lay-service in his own house, under the license of the bishop. The congregation soon outgrew the limited accommodations of the house and a new church became an urgent necessity. With true courage, he and his wife determined that a church should be built. They gave generously of their own savings, and sought help from their large circle of friends. Land was secured and very soon a pretty church of brick and stone was built, paid for, and consecrated. Soon a parish-house followed, and this sightly group of buildings stands to-day, as a memorial of the zeal and love of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

The church of the Heavenly Rest, well named, is his chosen resting-place, and there on the Feast of St. Michael and All Angels, the last words of the Church were said over his mortal part. His body waits the summons of the Resurrection Day, in calm and holy hope. Mr. Lewis belonged to a family of clergymen. The late Dr. Mahan was his step-father, the late Dr. Stevens Parker his brother-in-law, the Rev. Wm. Fisher Lewis, of Peekskill, N. Y., his brother, and the Rev. Charles S. Lewis his namesake and nephew. He learned early to love the church and her beautiful order of services, and though a layman he ministered with a zeal and fidelity that consecrated him. He was a man of singular purity of life devout and earnest, and his name will be precious in the sight of those who knew him best and loved him most. His wife survives him: his little son, their only child, had gone before him into Paradise.

Catalogues Wanted.

Catalogues of the graduates of the colleges of U. S. are especially helpful in this work. Among our readers are graduates of many, if not all, the leading colleges. Who can favor us with a recent not necessarily the latest catalogue of the graduates of his alma mater?
